Instituto Superior de Engenharia do
Porto-ISEP, Porto, Portugal
July 20-22, 2016

C3S2E16 invites a proposal for special session at the meeting in July. Special Sessions will be a very useful tool in order to complement the regular program with new or emerging topics of particular interest in the field of Computer Science & Software Engineering. Special Sessions that emphasize on multi-disciplinary and transversal aspects, as well as cutting-edge topics are especially encouraged and welcome. Some of these of interest to C3S2E are:

The aim of the Doctoral Candidates Panel is to provide a frame where students can present their on going research work and meet other students and researchers, and obtain feedback on future research directions.

The panels are intended for students who have a specific research proposal and some preliminary results, but who are still far from completing their dissertation.

All proposals submitted to the Doctoral Consortium will undergo a thorough reviewing process with the aim to provide detailed and constructive feedback. The accepted submissions will be presented at the Doctoral Consortium and published in the conference proceedings.

The submissions should identify: Problem statement; Related work; Hypothesis; Proposal; Preliminary Results and/or Evaluation Plan; Reflections

All papers must be formatted according to the C3S2E16 sample with a maximum length of 2 pages, including figures and references.

Submission

All proposed papers must be submitted in electronic form (PDF format) using the C3S2E16 site on ConfSys\(Conference management system\). Information about the system is given at: <http://confsys.encs.concordia.ca/>

Publication

Accepted papers will be published in the C3S2E16 proceedings published by ICPS(ACM) in their digital library. ; the ISBN assigned by ACM to C3S2E 2016 is: 978-1-4503-4075-5
A version of the proceedings to be distributed to the conference attendees would be prepared by BytePress.
